Saltimores, who Defeat the Chicagos, Regain the Loss of the Frevious Day— Seston's Waterlee at Louisville—Notes, The final game for the New Yorks at St. Louis was scheduled to be played yesterday, and it was expected that the tie game of last Monday would be decided in addition to the regular scheduled contest. However, only one game was played, which was all in New York's favor after the fifth inning. As in the first series at Cleveland the Brooklyns managed to take one of the games, this defeat of the Spiders enabled the Baltimores, by their victory over tho Chicagos, to regain the loss of the previous say. The Philadelphias tried their new pitcher, Whitrock, against the Cincinnatis, and Buck Ewing's men had a hard time of it before they succeeded in beating the Quakers for the third successive time. There is now only fifteen data difference between the three leaders. For the first time this season the Washingtons were whitewashed, the Pittsburghs applying the brush in a rather neat manner. CLEVELAND, July 8.—Brooklyn had a walkaway with the Clevelands to-day. Tebeau put the Brooklyn's "Jonah," Wallace, in to pitch, but he proved to be easy for the hard-hitting Brooklynites, who had their batting clothes on.
Base hits rair ed like a summer shower, which,
coupled with perfect floiding, made the game say for Brooklyn. Daub had the Clevelands at his mercy up to the ninth, when three singles and a three-bagger netted three earned runs.
Up to that time the Clevelands had trouble to get the ball out of the diamond. Griffin played a star game in centre, making several sensational catches after long runs. Tebeau played third for Cleveland, owing to McGarr's injury in the first from a hard-batted ball. Jones, Shindle, McAleer, and McKean did the bulk of the batting. The score:

TIM KEEFE GIVES IT UP.

The Umpire No Longer Able to Please the Ball Players, St. Louis, July S .- Tim Keefe, who not so many years ago was famous the country over as a pitcher for the New York club, has resigned his place as a National League umpire. The once great pitcher is disgusted with the methods employed by baseball players in these days to win games. Yes-baseball players in these days to win games. Yesterday morning he telegraphed Nick Young his resignation, and the League President accepted it. Keefe sald:

"My sole reason for leaving the field yesterday and for then and there determining to sever my connection with the national game forever is that baseball has reached a stage where it is absolutely disgraceful. It is the fashion now for every player engaged in a game to froth at the mouth and emit shrieks of anguish whenever a decision is given which is adverse to the interests of the club to which he belongs. This may not be wearying to the general public, but it is certainly disgusting to the ampire who gives decisions disinterestedly, and as he sees the plays.

"The continual senseless and puerile kicking at every decision has been infinitely trying to me and I have been considering for some time whether I had not better resign. I can apparently picase nobody. I have no immediate plans for the future. I shall first of all return to New York."

An Injunction Against the League,

TALE'S CONQUERORS APPEAR TO

BE THE BEST MEN AT HENLEY. They Row Down the New College Men in the Second Round, and Have Now Only Thames to Beat - McDowell, Ameri-en's Champton Sculler, Loves Ilin Hent, HENLEY-ON-THAMES, July 8.-The principal events on the programme of the Henley royal regatta to-day were the second trial heats of the eight-oared contest for the Grand Challenge Cup and the single scull contest for the Diamond Sculls, to determine which crews and individual oarsmen shall row in the final heat of each race o-morrow. The other races were not of so much account, but they still commanded a certain amount of interest, and some of them were very hotly contested and well rowed.

The first event of the day was the second heat for the Thames Challenge Cup for eight oars. The start was made about 11:30. The heat was between the Kingston Rowing Club and Trinity Hall, Cambridge. The latter won by a length.

The fourth heat in the race for the Grand Challenge Cup having been a bye for the Thames Rowing Club, the fifth heat was the first of that series to be contested to-day, be-tween the Leander Rowing Club and the crew of New College, Oxford, the two crack crews in the list of entries. In spite of the magnificent showing made by the Leanders against Yale yesterday, the New College men were the favorites. The latter crew started at a stroke of forty-three. Leander rowed forty-two. The New College boat had a clear lead in a minute, having kept in front from the first stroke. There was space between the boats at the Rectory, and New College was a length and a quarter ahead at the half mile, a lead which was maintained until the boats reached Fawley Court. The first half of the course was covered by New College in 3:20.

Passing Fawley Court, Leander began to spurt and drew up level with the Oxford men at the mile post. Then the nose of the Leander's boat showed in front and at the Isthmian was three-quarters of a length ahead. Passing the Isthmian, the New College crew made a grand spurt, but the Bucks side favored the Leander boat, and in the desperate trial of speed and endurance for the finish the finer form of the Leander men was clearly apparent the latter ont crossing the finish line half a length ahead in 7:06.

New College men were the worse winded however, and it was some minutes before they recovered. The race was a splendid one and both crews were cheered, the Leanders, of course, receiving the larger share of plaudits.

In the sixth heat for the Grand Challenge Cup the Thames Rowing Club and First Trinity, Cambridge, were the contestants. The heat was won by the Thames crew by a length, and the final heat for the trophy will be rowed between the Thames Rowing Club and the eight of the Leander Rowing Club to-morrow. Trinity got away well at a stroke of forty-one.

the Thames men rowing forty. Trinity was a canvas shead at the top of Temple Island, and at the half mile had increased that lead to half a length. Thames then began to draw up and, passing Trinity, was leading by half a length at the Fawley Court boat house. From this point the Thames boat drew clear of Trinity and held her lead to the finish, winning by a bare length in 7:29. Thames had the Bucks side of the course and was greatly sheltered from the In the heat for the Diamond Sculls between Vivian Nickalls and the Hon, Rupert Guinness both men started with a stroke of thirty-six. Nickalls went to the front immediately, but crossed over to Guinness's station, from which side Guinness drove him back. At the quartermile Nickails had a lead of three-quarters of a length, and again tried to take his rivai's water.

He was forced to return to his own side, and this time he lost ground. At Fawley Court, Guinness's boat was level with that of Nickails, and the two continued to row on even terms until the three-quarter-inile post was reached, when Guinness began to draw ahead slowly. At the Isthmian Guinness was clear of Nickails, and continued to increase his lead until he crossed the finish line four lengths ahead, in 8:16, Nickails was greatly winded.

The sixth heat of the race for the Diamond Sculls, between R. K. Beaumont of the Biartonon-Trent Rowing Club and Dr. W. S. McDowell of the Delaware Boat Club of Chicage, who heat the Hon. E. A. Guinness so easily yesterday, was regarded as of especial importance, in view of the fact that if the Doctor should vanquish Beaumont as easily as he did Guinness he would stand a good chance of capturing the trophy from the Hon. Rupert Guinness, the holder of the diamond sculls and the only other survivor of the trial heats, to-morrow. But the result showed that there was little ground for apprehension that the trophy would be won by an American, for McDowell was beaten with as great, if not greater, ease as he beat young side Guinness drove him back. At the quarter-

McDowell was thequicker to move, and as the loats cleared the island he had the fore canvas of his shell ahead of Beaumont's boat. He increased this lead to a quarter of a length at the creased this lead to a quarter of a length at the quarter of a mile post, but at this point Beaumont put on more steam and rapidly drew level, remaining in that position until they reached Fawley Court. From that point Beaumont drew ahead, and was soon a clear length in advance, a lead which he had increased to three lengths at the three-quarters of a mile post, McDowell was pulling under difficulties against a strong adverse breeze, while Beaumont was rowing close to the Bucks shore in the shelter of the house boats, and thus escaped the wind, Beaumont won easily.

the house boats, and thus escaped the wind. Beaumont won easily.

The United Press reporter on board the umpire's launch thus describes the race between McDowell and Beaumont:

"Dr. McDowell got away before the word and was half a length ahead at the top of the island, He was rowing at a thirty-six stroke and Beaumont at thirty-four. McDowell tried to take Beaumont's water, but owing to the strength of the breeze he was forced back. He then seemed to be playing with Beaumont. He was three-quarters of a length ahead at the half-mile post, but when they reached Fawley Court he was barely leading. At Fawley Court Beaumont struck the end of a punt, but cleared nimself and ran half a length ahead of McDowell. The latter, who had slowed down, finished four lengths behind. He was badly pumped and Beaumont was also pretty well winded. Beaumont's time was 148."

The sky was clear and the sunshine bright at The sky was clear and the sunshine bright at

The sky was clear and the sunshine bright at intervals throughout the foremon, with a moderate breeze blowing obliquely zeroes the course and rather against the rowers. The crowds along the river banks, upon the bridge, and at other points of vantage were not so dense as they were yesterday, but they were still very large. There was a noticeable decrease in the number of Americans and of American fings, hundroits of Americans having taken their departure after the defeat of Yale, which, very naturally, was the only crew in which they took any especial interest.

The Yale crew remained quiet last evening. The mon are all well and accept the situation philosophically, as do the others of the defeated crews in the regatta. Yesterday's race between Yale and Leander is still the leading topic of conversation and discussion. Everyhody rews in the regatta. Yesterday's race between Yale and Leander is still the leading topic of conversation and discussion. Everybody praises the muscle and pluck shown by the Yale men. The holiday makers who came from London to-day greatly lamented the fact that they were unable to see the Yale men row, and there were many expressions of regret that they had not won yesterday so that they could have another try this afternoon.

The Yale men will leave their quarters at the Marsh Mills House Friday morning, and will attend a dinner to be given in their honor by the Sports Club, at London, that evening. The Yale men will return to the United States separately, as some of them intend visiting the Continent or elsewhere before going home.

The first heat for the Visitors Challenge Cup for four cars was won by Magdalen College, Oxford, which beat Trinity College, Oxford, easily.

In the fifth heat for the Ladies' Challenge for four oars was won by Magdalen College, Oxford, which beat Trinity College, Oxford, easily.

In the fifth heat for the Ladies' Challenge Plate, Balloi College, Oxford, beat Emmanuel College, Cambridge, by half a length.

The sixth heat was won by the Eton College crew, who beat the Radley College men easily.

The second heat for the Steward's Challenge Cup was won by the Thames Howing Club, which beat Magdalen College, Oxford, by a length and a half. The third heat was won by the Molesey Hoat Club, which beat the Thames Howing Club easily. The fourth heat was won by the Sport Nautique of Paris, who beat the crew of Trinity College, Dublin, by half a length. The Paris crew led over the entire course and finished in fair form. Theirs was a popular victory, and the Frenchmen were heartily cheered at the finish.

The first heat of the pair-oared race for the Nickall's Challenge Cup isliver goblets) was a row over for W. E. Crum and C. M. Pitman of New College, Oxford. In the second heat the London Rowing Club, Vivian and Gny Nickalls, beat the Leander Hoat Club, W. F. C. Hofland and J. A. Ford, by six lengths.

The fourth heat for the Wyfold Challenge Cup was won by the crew of Trinity College, Oxford, who beat the Chius College crew easily. In the fifth heat the London Rowing Club, and London Rowling Club a length and a hait. This heat finished the racing for the day. A strong wind blew throughout the day. shifted slightly at times, but against the course. The final heats in all the events will be rowed to-morrow.

Entries for the Amateur Championship at Shinnecock Hills.

Secretary H. O. Tallmadge of the United States Golf Association announced yesterday the entries for the amateur championship o 1896, to begin at Shinnecock Hills on next Tuesday. They number eighty-five, and represent twenty six clubs of the forty-eight incorporated in the national union. This is a manifest advance from last year, when thirty-four players, halling from ten clubs, met in the amaplayers, hailing from ten clubs, met in the amateur championship on the Newpert links, when Charles Biair Macifonald won the title, and the medal men were Charles E. Sands, Dr. Charles Clayton, and F. I. Amory.

The increase in numbers is not the only improvement shown by the list, Last season a certain proportion entered simply to learn what their form would be against experts and with little hopes of winning. Since then golf has been closely studied by men who have reputations for athletic prowess gained in other branches of sport, who have come on very first, like A. H. Fenn, James A. Tyng, Henry F. Toler, and Jasper Lynch. The players who are not quite so young in the game, like Dr. E. C. Rushmore, Herlert C. Leeds, and W. H. Sands, have been diligently practising, and, as the knowledge of the game has spread in the colleges, a new and lacile element has come forward who must be reckoned with. Consequently, the list shows a substantial golfing strength, lacking in last year's display of entries.

Some promithent golfers are missing from the ruster, men as prominent as some who are entered from their clubs, like the Rev. W. S. Rainsford and D. G. Henderson of St. Andrew's, Daniel Chauncey of Dyker Meadow, E. C. Kent of Tuxedo, F. A. Walthew and L. E. Van Etten of the Knollwood Country Club, Henry Phipps of the Strength of the golfers developed in the United States within the three past years.

true showing of the strength of the golfers developed in the United States within the three past years.

Against this galaxy are arrayed three good men who have learned the game at the fountain head, old Scotland. They are Charles Blair MacDonaid, the amateur champion, and A. M. Coats, both graduates from the links at St. Andrew's, and it. J. Whigham, with honors gained at Prestwick. Numbers do not affect the chances of the race in golf, so the three, on the strength of their past experience and reputed present skill, are believed to have the best chance of winning. But they have no guarantee of success, for from the band of lusty and zealous players of home culture a roung golfer may come forth who cannot be denied. The conditions, a thirty-six hole round, at medal play, on Tuesday, followed by hole play, in eighteen-hole rounds, until only two are left in, who must linish the contest in a match of thirty-six holes, should equalize the chancea between all the players. CRICKET.

The Haverford Boys Score Another Draw Which Promised to Be a Victory.

MARLHOROUGH, England, July 8.-After a downpour of rain on Tuesday which allowed no play to take place, the cricket match between the visiting Haverford College team and Marlborough College was played here to-day in threatening weather, which, however, did not prevent a very fair crowd from witnessing the match. The Americans had again the best of the game, leading on the first innings by 43 runs, but, as the contest had been arranged as a two-innings game, it was decided as a draw.

The visitors were very much disappointed at The visitors were very much disappointed at this decision. They were willing before the game started that the match should be decided on the first innings, but the Mariborough captain would not agree to this, and, while the game was again a virtual victory for the Americans, it has to go on record as a drawn match. The feature of the game was the fine exhibition of batting by D. A. Adams and J. A. Lester of the ilaverford team. They got together after A. Is. Midflin had been dismissed without scoring, and for two hours they kept the fielders on the run. Both men played with great freedom, hitting vicorously and well, and they scored at a rapid rate. Capt. Sandford of the Mariborough team tried all his bowlers, but it was not until the telegraph showed 150 that Adams, in reaching out at a bail from Lewis, was stumped for a line innings of 78.

J. A. Lester kett up the good work in the company of C. H. Howson, and everything pointed to the Haverford captain making another "century." It was not to be, however, for when he was within nine runs of the much coveted three figures, a good catch by collins, off Moir, proved fatal to him, and he retired amid encers for a grand tunings of 91. C. k. Hinchman and A. F. Coca did the best work of the rest of the team, and the innings was not over until total amounted to 273.

The Mariborough boys batted consistently and well, but their total fell forty-three runs short of Haverford's. W. Prest and L. N. Hogers made a particularly good stant, each of them getting over fifty, while seven of the teams corred double this decision. They were willing before the

WHERE WILL THEY FIGHT? Dan Stuart Expected Here to Bid for the

Corbett-Sharkey Mill. The fact that Dan Stuart has made up his mind to bid for the Sharkey-Corbett match. as stated in THE SUN, has stirred up the sports The way things look now Corbett and Sharkey will not fight for six months yet, as they have no particular site in view to settle their grievances. It is said that the Sharkey pos-ple are willing to abide by what Stuart may do and that they firmly believe in his ability to pull off the important mill. Corbett, do and that they firmly believe in his ability to pull off the important mill. Corbett, through his manager, has already signed to fight Bob Fitz-immons before Stuart's club, but now that the ex-champion has taken on a contract with Sharkey it is believed that the conditions cited in the articles of agreement will hold good in this contest. D. J. Lynch, Sharkey's manager, in a talk with a reporter of the San Francisco Chromicle, after the baptile between Corbett and the ex-sailor lad, said: "Sharkey is the conding worklis's champion. I am putting up the $10,000 to back Sharkey. That is a good size of my confidence. I first got a line on Sharkey through Needham. We used him as a trial horse, and the contest came out last night just as I had anticipated. I never saw a more apt puril than Sharkey, and he has improved wonderfully under Needham's tuition. He is the most temperate man known in the history of the ring, and he has ne bad labits. This accounts for his wonderful recuperative powers that have been a source of surveise to even old ring patrons.

"I had intended to take Sharkey East, but a fresh fight with Corbett for the world's championship is just what we want. If the match should fall through, I will issue a challenge to the world. Sharkey is not muscle-bound, as is generally claimed. He is an unusually heavymuscled man, owing to an abundant use of dumb belis. His success up to the present time is due to the fact that he never lets up on an opponent, and relentlessly follows him all over the ring. I have seen sharkey in all his California fights, and he has never yet been an opponent, and relentlessly follows him all over the ring. I have seen Sharkey in all hi California fights, and he has never yet been California fights, and he has never yet been grocgy, to my notion.

"I consider that a finish fight should be Sharkey's forte. He gets over a hard effort quicker than any man or heast I ever saw. It's really wonderful how quickly he freshens up after a hard run. He is a quick man on his feetquick as the average light weight, and a hard man to rea h. He would lick Maher in no time. Sharkey slows to the best advantage when his occonent forces the battle. I consider the centest with Carbett the hardest one Sharkey has ret had. In fact, that is the first black eye that Sharkey has received in California. Sharkey will be the world's champion inside of a year. Stick a pin in this predicinside of a year. Stick a pin in this predic-tion."

Ninth Round.

The finish contest between "Kid" Devlin, a west side light weight, and Young Burke, who claims to side light weight, and Young Burke, who claims to be a protoce of Jack Lyman, the old time feather weight, which took place early Tuesday morning in a sporting resort in New Jersey, was marred by a few petty quarrels betweer the seconds and the men. After matters were patched up the battle went on. The incentive was a purse of $100 and $25 a slike. George Black of the imperial A. C. was referee and M. Than held the watch. The lada weighted in at 128 pounds at 6 o'clock in the evening. On entering the ring each appeared to weigh about eight pounds more. Five-ounce gloves were used. Burke was the first to lead. He punched levilin over the ear and sent hits staggering to the ropes. They indulged in infighting until the fath round, when beylin planted his left on Burke's Jaw and the latter dropned to the floor. He areas very grooky, but although hevelin punched him hard he was unable to flush him. In the sixth and seventh rounds Beylin had the advantage of the exchanges, but lurke's straight left way very much in evidence, in the minth round, at the advice of his seconds, Devlin went in to finish his man. Burke, however, met all his rushes and punched him here. In the ninth round, at the advice of his seconds, Devlin was knocked down four times. The last time he was sent out his pins he concluded not to get up, and was counted out.

Burke told The Six reborier after the battle thas he was rendy to meet any 125 pound man in the sussiness. be a protige of Jack Lyman, the old time feather

Tommy White Challenges George Dixon and Posts a Forfett.
As foresadowed in THE SUN, a match for the featherweight championship of the world between Tommy White of Chicago and Champion George Tommy White of Chicago and Champton George Dixon will probably be arranged soon. Mike Haley, who appears to be looking out for White's affairs just now, visited the Hiserated Nessemble and posted $250 as a forfeit to climb the meeting. Haley thinks that White should receive the first chance against Dixon as he has proved thimself to be a first-class featherweight. White, who has nover the defeated, if really to fight Dixon before any club of repute, and Haley will gire thirty days to hilly Madden, Dixon's new manager, in which to file an answer. The chances of a fight just now, however, are slim, as Dixon says he will not meet anytody until next fall.
